The SMART way to manage the well-being and individual physical performance of students

Intelligent Trainer Education is transforming the well-being and fitness in schools and academies 'through Sport participation. Intelligent Trainer Schools monitors, promotes and educates the importance of well-being and fitness of children and young people in Schools.

Data is collected via the Acentas live monitoring Team system and subjective data inputs for main sport activities is also collected. The information collected results in strong positive outcomes for participants leading to the identification, commitment and safe management of 'Elite' Performers and the general health and well-being of students and pupils. The application has the facility for parents and guardians to view individuals efforts, the progress being made for a particular activity and the overall hours carrying out sporting activity.

The Schools version of Intelligent Trainer will provide a focus for the Physical Education Department on the general well-being and development of students participating in sports and general physical activities. We are introducing this revolutionary idea into Schools to encourage students to perform better and also to engage and encourage parent interest and participation through individual online accounts detailing the performance and progress through the school years in sport and other activities. It will provide a CV of the effort made and show over time how those efforts will benefit the well-being or desire to play a particular sport at a high level.

Wellington School, based in Somerset have partnered with Intelligent Trainer to start this journey with their 13 to 16 year olds. The extensive knowledge and experience of Intelligent Trainer in Cardiac and Locomotive data monitoring in sport, will give the School Sports department a unique insight into the performance of students participating in general gym activities and sports.

We monitor in a manner that does not make participants feel uncomfortable, all data is available to see by parents and guardians to help with encouragement to perform well and to see how improvement through training objectives can be seen over time.
