Maintaining a competitive edge in today's sporting arenas requires high levels of skill and understanding of an individuals or a team's performance. Intelligent Trainer is a standalone multi platform software package that has the functionality to collect and summarise, into an easy to read graphical interface, the critical data used in sports environments that monitor teams and athletes.

Winning teams will analyse their athlete's activities by collecting data that gathers information about the physical, tactical and technical requirements of their sport to improve training and game performance; this can determine the "thin line" between winning and losing.

Evidence Based, the facts at your fingertips...

Intelligent Trainer produces evidence based results; it does not calculate subjective data nor does it make assumptions, it allows the coaches to think objectively about the results they see, Intelligent Trainer allows coaches and athletes to make the right decisions for each individual athlete, this coupled with the minimum amount of input required, saves vast amounts of time and reduces errors to a minimum.

Combine the Live Studio Heart Rate Software by Acentas with the Intelligent Trainer Studio Package for added monitoring over time, to view fitness progress.

Your periodisation Planning and is made simple, with options to make your planning totally bespoke to your sports requirements.

Combine the Intelligent Trainer Team application with our Team Cardiac monitoring package and target real-time cardiac performance retaining the data for historical analysis. Integrate the Heart rate Data with the 'Beast Technologies' Velocity training results to really achieve detailed information about the Power, Speed, Explosiveness and Strength gains of each athlete within an team.

Intelligent Trainer has varies levels of features that can be adapted to your club or organisation. Once you see the results flowing into Intelligent Trainer you will start to see the potential of combining data, being able to analyse current and historical statistics all at your fingertips via any device.
